

Department of Psychological Medicine
& Centre for Postgraduate Nursing Studies

Intellectual Disability: Theory into Practice

The aim of this interdisciplinary paper is to develop your knowledge base, clinical and practical skills as a health and disability professional working in the specialist field of intellectual disability. The content is underpinned by evidenced-based practice and current philosophy grounded on emerging social models of disability. Links are made between physical and mental well-being, sociological, pharmacological, behavioural, interdisciplinary and ethical approaches across the lifespan. For enquiries relating to the content of this paper:

Paper Code: NURS433 / PSME439 30points (0.25 EFTS)

Offered: Part-time, Semester 2, Commencing July 2020 (subject to enrolments)

Contact: Henrietta Trip (Convenor)

Email: henrietta.trip@otago.ac.nz

Phone: (03) 364 3850

APPLICATION INFORMATION

If you are interested in undertaking this paper, enrolment for 2020 opens in August 2019. Applications are undertaken online at www.otago.ac.nz